

THE EVENING CRITIC.
ESTABLISHED AUGUST, 1868.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. Keene's "Hamlet."
A fine audience assembled at the National Theatre last evening to witness Mr. Keene's characterization of "Hamlet." For the first time during his engagement this gentleman made a universal hit. Hitherto, while some have been satisfied with his representation, the general verdict has been that he was not in "Hamlet," however, Mr. Keene is very successful, and his presentation of the piece marks him as an actor and student of most excellent promise. He is much more quiet and subdued in this performance than in any other in which we have seen him, is free—in fact, almost wholly free—from rant, and plays the part with ease and refined polish.

His support was better last evening than on any previous occasion. As the awe of the play is one of the largest ingredients of its success, it is necessary that the spectral character be well and strongly presented, and the ghost in last night's rendition was enacted with more power than any ever seen in Washington.

Miss Allen as the Queen was quite effective, and Mr. Leacock's Laertes a first-class piece of acting.

To-night Mr. Keene appears as Macbeth, and to-morrow's matinee as Bertrando in "The Fool's Revenge."

The Theatre Comique gives its usual matinee to-day at 2:30 p. m. with a fine variety company, closing with the thrilling drama of "Wild Bill," with Mr. Julian Kent in the title role.

The "Tourists."
Ample opportunity has been given the Fords, during the present week, to arrange and perfect every appointment in their bison opera-house for the presentation of the "Tourists" next week, and they have taken advantage of the same. The "Tourists," as they come to be known, are entirely renovated and glisten with humor, fun and pleasant wit. They were always excellent and most attractive, but they are now more novel and brilliant than ever. The great star, Mestayer, still shines in the firmament of the stage, and is surrounded by a galaxy of clever and effective artists. The "Tourists" will be the most successful engagement at Washington of the fall season.

Emma Abbott.
The sale of seats for the Emma Abbott Company, next week at the National Theatre, continues very large. We advise our readers to obtain their seats in advance and while the opportunity offers itself.

Why not Censure the Road.
Yesterday evening Coroner Patterson held an inquest at No. 315 Virginia avenue, southwest, in the case of James J. Phillips, the unfortunate little child that was run over on the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, opposite his home on last Tuesday, receiving injuries from which he died at midnight. The evidence showed that the boy had been crossing the railroad, and that freight cars standing on the side track prevented him from seeing the approaching train until it was too late. The jury brought in the following verdict: "That the said John J. Phillips came to his death about 11:30 p. m., October 25th, 1881, at house No. 315 Virginia avenue southwest, from injuries received by being run over by a freight train of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad Company. The jury attach no blame to the employees of the company, but recommend that the railroad be left on the track should be prohibited."

A Milky Way.
Mary Moriarty was arraigned this morning in the Police Court for the larceny of milk from Mr. Oliver Thompson. The evidence showed that Mr. Thompson has been in the habit of leaving a milk picher on the doorstep in the early morning for the milkman to fill, and that by the time the picher is taken in, it is evident that more than half its contents have been drunk. This morning Mr. Thompson watched his picher, and as the day began to dawn he observed Miss Moriarty creep up the steps, and after taking a drink, go down the steps. Judge Snell imposed a sentence of thirty days in jail.

The Carroll Institute Meeting.
The usual Thursday night meeting of the Carroll Institute was held last night at its rooms on G street. After the election of the corresponding secretary in place of the late Howard Buswell, the musical and literary part of the programme was taken up and participated in by Messrs. Boone, Dyer and Carr, and Messrs. Johnson, Jefferson, Troanor, Murphy and Malley. The attendance was unusually large and the programme much enjoyed. Major Mallet read a paper on American history of unusual research and ability, and Mr. Murphy gave an account of his trip to Yorktown, which was very well received.

A Card.
Collars and cuffs, Troy style, the best work in the city. Ira Godfrey, Jr., 315 Wisconsin, 1235 F street.

Passes for the Penitentiary.
Commitments to the Auburn State prison have been made out for the following parties transmitted to Warden Crockett, and they will be sent to their destination at an early day: John H. Evans, second offense petit larceny, five years; John H. Simms, alias John Cooke, grand larceny, three years; Ephraim Ducker, second offense petit larceny, three years; Burke Williams, grand larceny, three years.

Dr. Rhodes' Transfusing Battery.
advertised in another column, is an article of real merit, and is well worth a trial. It will positively do what is claimed for it. Money cheerfully refunded to all using it a reasonable length of time if they are not satisfied. Mr. R. H. Kelphe, the well-known druggist, Fourteenth and F streets—Elliott House—is the agent.

Fall and Winter Goods.
At the elegant establishment of E. G. Davis, 719 Market Space, a most attractive stock of fall and winter goods, including millinery and fancy goods and notions, is now being exhibited. The stock has been selected with a view to meeting the tastes of every lady. Goods sold at this popular store are found to be always just as represented. Davis makes a specialty of his late millinery novelties.

A Sudden Thief.
Charles Preston, alias Frank Williams, was held by Judge Snell for the grand jury to-day in $500 bonds for snatching a small hand satchel containing $68.77 from Mrs. Lena Heiting on E street yesterday afternoon and running off with it. Preston is a young colored man, and has previously had a pretty good character.

DRAFTS ON LONDON, DUBLIN AND PARIS.
at H. D. Cooke, Jr., & Co., 1429 F st.

The New Secretary of the Treasury.

Hon. Charles J. Folger was born in Nantucket, Mass., April 16, 1818. When about 12 years of age his parents removed to Geneva, Ontario County, N. Y., where he has since resided, except at intervals when engaged in the study of law. He graduated from Geneva College in 1836, and immediately entered upon the study of law in the office of Mark H. Sibley and Alvan Worden, in Canandaigua. In 1839 he was admitted to the practice at the bar of the Supreme Court at Albany, and in the following year entered upon the practice of his profession at Geneva. In 1844 he was appointed, under the old Constitution, judge of the Ontario Court of Common Pleas, was also master and examiner in chancery until the Chancery Court was abolished by the adoption of the Constitution of 1846. In 1851 he was elected County Judge of Ontario County, and held that office for four years. In 1852 he was elected Senator from that district, was re-elected in 1853, in 1855, in 1857, and again in 1859. Mr. Folger was a Democrat until 1856, but has acted with the Republican party from the period of his organization. He was elected to the State Senate in 1855, and at every subsequent session was chosen speaker pro tem, and presided during the absence of the Lieutenant-governor. As a public speaker there are but few men in the Republican party in the State who can excel him. He is a natural orator, and his powers have been increased by a thorough education and discipline. During the session of 1856 he broke with Gov. Fenton, and was prevented from attending the annual convention of the party. He was elected to the position of auditor of the canal department. Mr. Folger, shortly after his last election to the State Senate, resigned his place, to accept the tender by President Grant of the office of Assistant Treasurer of the United States in New York city, made vacant by the retirement of Gen. Butterfield, who had been so completely undone by the great "gold panic" of September, 1873. His services on the Judiciary Committee of the Senate and in the Constitutional Convention of 1867 caused his selection as associate judge of the Court of Appeals in 1870, and he has since that time been a member of the Supreme Court. He was nominated for chief justice by the Republican State Committee in August, 1880, no State convention having been called, and was elected on the ticket with Garfield and Arthur by 40,000 majority. He has always been classed as a Stalwart Republican.

"The Star" Wrong Again.
National Republican.

With its usual inaccuracy the Star last night asserted that an attempt was to be made in the Senate to administer the oath of office to Senator-elect Windom, which, said the Star, would be opposed by the Democrats. There is no truth in this statement. The question of swearing in Senator Windom in advance of receiving his credentials from the Legislature was informally discussed among the Senators a day or two ago, and the conclusion was then reached that Senator Edgerton should retain his seat until the credentials of Senator-elect Windom reached here, which will be to-morrow. There is a precedent for this action, a parallel case having occurred when Senator Armstrong, of Missouri, who had been appointed by the governor to fill a vacancy, held his seat in the Senate after Gen. Shields had been elected his successor and the latter had arrived here with his credentials.

Lunatics on a Railroad Trip.
Twenty-seven crazy women of Westchester County, New York, went Monday night last in a car on the New York Central road, while being transferred from Poughkeepsie to Willard's Asylum, on Seneca Lake. A great deal of white lying was required to induce the railroad company to allow them to travel in this manner. One of the women declares that the Jeannette was frozen to the North Pole, and she could get her off; and another, who lost two sons in the Holy Land, thought she was going to die of it. There were five young and good-looking women among the party, who at intervals acted and talked as sensibly as women under the most favorable circumstances could talk and act. Nobody would, in these intervals, detect any insanity, but a night with them in a train on the New York Central Railroad was sufficient to convince anybody of their insanity.

Trouble at the Newmarket Races.
At Newmarket, Wednesday, Mr. Walton, of New York, backed Medius heavily for the Brethby Nursery stakes. After the race Sir John Ashley insulted Mr. Walton, and a violent row ensued. The general sympathy is with Mr. Walton, who has throughout conformed to the rules of the betting ring. Mr. Walton claimed his right to back horses immediately after the numbers of the runners were hoisted, and the bookmakers took his side. The dispute was not side with Mr. Walton's claim, but denounces the insult offered by Sir John Ashley.

Now Open.
Dr. H. L. Bovee takes pleasure in informing his friends and the public that he has removed to his new Bath Parlors (exclusive of operations for beauty and complexion) at 1417 G street, opposite Riggs House.

Our Light-houses.
The annual report of the light-house board shows that there are now 700 light-houses, 29 light-ships and 59 fog signals operated by steam or hot air along our coast. There are 864 lights in Western waters. It is expected that the new light-house at Cape Henry will be completed before the end of the current year. An appropriation of $50,000 is asked for the purpose of introducing the electric light into some of the principal seacoast light-houses.

The Demand for Confederate Bonds.
The remarkable demand for Confederate bonds continues, especially at Richmond, Va. The scheme, however, did not originate in that city, though the demand there is the most violent. The Virginia State is advertising for them, and it is difficult to estimate the number of them sold. One banking house has already purchased $5,000,000 coupon bonds, at from $3 to $5 per thousand.

Durand's Rheumatic Remedy will cure any case of Rheumatism on the face of the green earth. Sold by every live druggist in Washington.

To be Investigated.
Adjutant-General Berry, of Boston, Mass., has issued a special order commanding a detail of one staff and one line officer of the first brigade to visit Wilmington, Del., Richmond, Va., and Washington, D. C., to investigate the charges made against the Ninth Massachusetts Regiment on their late visit to Yorktown.

WE NEED not be physicians to know when we have and how to cure a cold. We can have a special physician called in by keeping convenient a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

The Atchison (Kan.) Champion notes that the Commissioner of the General Land office, whom Eastern papers are calling General, was known out in Kansas as Judge McFarland.

The complete official returns of 81 counties in Iowa, with the reported majorities in 1876, bring Sherman's proponent over Kline for Governor up to 56,351. Five counties are yet to be heard from.

The machinery of the Massachusetts Democratic State Committee having passed into the control of the Butler wing of the party, the Boston Herald intimates that the tail of the party has got where it can wag the head.
